Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The query for the Upstream machine and Downstream machine to be answered is critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). Referring to figure 2, and written description of drawing demonstrate "the query" will be answered for the Upstream machine and Downstream machine in the processor, is not reflected in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by applicant's own disclosure as in figure 1 (Prior art).

Regarding to claimed invention applicant discloses number of inspection machines with number of conveyors 12 and an encoder associated with each conveyor for tracking bottle. The processors 22 in each inspection system identify the bottle that should be rejected. Figure 1 shows processors are connected via Ethernet cable.

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Burns et al (5,437,702).

Regarding to claimed invention, Burns et al teaches glass bottle production line including conveyor means 12, hot bottle inspection means 64 which also generates signal indicative of the detection of bottle at the inspection station, a data processing assembly 66 process the bottle detection signal, the conveyor moves bottles downstream in direction 16, and blow mold assembly 30 positioned at an upstream end 38 of conveyor and mold monitor assembly 42 generates mold transfer signal. Burns further discloses a remote computer connected to hot bottle inspector 64 and rejection device 68 positioned downstream from hot bottle inspector 64, see figure 1 and appropriate column for text. Burns et al discloses data processor 252 receives programming input as well as send process data to a remote computer 66 to which it is connected by conventional cables 256, see col. 7, lines 26-68.
